Client Consent and Guide to EMAIL Use

The decision to utilize email is strictly voluntary and your consent may be rescinded at any time. There are risks to using email to communicate with your counselor/prescriber. The risks are but not limited to:

- NCC's Email is not encrypted, therefore, not confidential
- Email may be seen by unintended viewers
- Email may be intercepted by hackers and redistributed
- Someone posing as you could communicate with the counselor and access information
- Email can be used to spread computer viruses
- Email may not be received by either party in a timely matter
- Email is discoverable in litigation and may be used as evidence in court
- Email can be circulated and stored by unintended recipients
- Statements made via email may be misunderstood creating miscommunication and/or negatively effecting treatment

When may I use email to communicate with my counselor?

- Appointment scheduling or rescheduling
- Clarification on therapeutic homework
- Other matters not requiring an immediate response

When should I NOT use email to communicate with my counselor?

1. In an emergency:
 - If you are experiencing any desire to harm yourself or others
 - If you are experiencing a severe medication reaction
2. If you need an immediate response about non-emergent issues

What can I expect from my counselor/prescriber around answering my emails?

- Your email will be read within 48 business hours.
- If the counselor/prescriber deems it to be clinically inappropriate to respond, a conversation about the email will be initiated at your next appointment.
- If the original email initiated by you is cc'd to a third party, NCC may chose not to respond or may not include the third party in the response.
- NCC counselor/prescriber will not initiate emails containing clinical content.
- If you initiate an email with clinical content, you are accepting the risk.

What happens to my messages?

- Email will be printed out and maintained as a permanent part of your medical record
- As part of your permanent record, they will be released along with the rest of the record upon your authorization or when NCC is legally required to do so
- Messages may be seen by staff for the purpose of filing or carrying out requests

CONSENT TO EMAIL USE

By signing below, I consent to the use of email communication between myself and my counselor/prescriber at NCC. I recognize there are risks to its use, and NCC cannot absolutely guarantee confidentiality. I understand and accept those risks. I further understand if I send too many emails, send inappropriate emails, or copy outsiders on the emails, NCC may not respond or cease to allow me to use email to communicate with NCC. I also understand that I may withdraw my consent to communicate via email at any time by notifying my counselor/prescriber in writing.
